

HAND CRAFT SAVED PRISONERS FROM DEATH IN HUN PRISONS

(Correspondence Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Proof of the eagerness of war prisoners to find a way out of the depressing monotony of confinement, behind the exhibition which has been opened here by Princess Patricia of Connaught. It shows too the resourcefulness of the English captives in the German camp at Ruhleben and how they not only kept their spirits in mind but actually, according to physicians, saved the lives of many who would have succumbed to despair.

In the early days of the camp the prisoners among the prisoners found the greatest difficulty in obtaining materials. A bit of wood or scrap of old iron was a treasure.

Among the exhibits is a chair made of wood, perfect in every detail. Before the prisoner could make it, he had to steal the wood from the lumberyard.

A triple-escape machine, in running order, represents eighteen weeks' labor. The raw materials were stolen from the lumberyard.

You see, they were not only in mind but actually, according to physicians, saved the lives of many who would have succumbed to despair.

Toward the end there was established at the camp a well-organized handicraft department with about 300 pupils in art-metal work, book binding, woodcarving and carpentry.

The exhibition is to help repatriated prisoners, but many of the exhibits are not for sale, the makers refusing to part with work that cost them such patient toil.

SLAUGHTER OF SERBIANS BY BULGARIAN TROOPS

(Correspondence Associated Press)

Belgrade, Jan. 19.—Confirming evidence of the slaughter of Serbian priests by Bulgarians during the war was given to a representative of the Associated Press today by the Rev. Milija Yentschitch, pastor of one of the churches here who personally witnessed the massacre of twenty of his colleagues and one Serbian officer. All he says, were shot and many were burned alive.

Father Yentschitch escaped a similar fate only by feigning death after he had been shot. He exhibited to the Associated Press correspondent two bullet wounds in his left shoulder. Another priest, the Rev. Thomas Popovitch, of Piro, escaped by fleeing across the mountain road.

The number of the priests took place November 25, 1915, in the village of Kremencia about thirty-five miles east of Nish, according to the story of Father Yentschitch, which follows:

Father Yentschitch in company with twenty-two other Serbian priests was taken by Bulgarians from Piro to Nish where they were thrown into a cell and forced to live for five days without food or water. After his release he and his companions, who included Lieutenant Tasa Gorovitch of the Serbian army, were marched by their captors for thirteen hours to Bela Palanka, thirty miles east of Nish, an armed guard walking behind each.

About two hours walk from Bela Palanka the priests came to a halt and were ordered to turn off the road into a very small valley to the right. It was after midnight and half a moon gave the only illumination to the lonely mountain roads and valleys. The priest had not gone far when the bullets shot from the bushes.

Father Yentschitch escaped and hid in the bushes behind a large rock. He saw the whole scene of the massacre from the bushes.

His sick and wounded, dragged, some dead, some half alive, to pits, which had been dug for them, and they lay there for days.

Many of our men, said Father Yentschitch, were sick alive, when the Bulgarians carried their bodies with machine guns and shot them after they had been killed. They were then buried with their hands behind their heads. After the burial they went themselves. Father Yentschitch, the priest, carried bodies of the victims and was himself shot and killed. He was then buried with his hands behind his head.

The Bulgarians left the scene before daylight. Father Yentschitch made his way on foot to the village of Piro, and came to Piro, his home. From his home, twenty-five miles from Nish, he concealed himself from the Bulgarians under the floor of the house. He had a hole in the floor, and food being brought to him through a hole in the floor. The Associated Press correspondent visited this place and saw the wretched conditions under which Yentschitch lived.

When the priest emerged from his self-imposed confinement, his appearance had changed. His friends failed to recognize him. He was large and healthy, and he was sent to a prison camp at Bela Palanka near the Rumanian frontier, where for three months he only food was a slice of bread and a few pieces of beef each day. When the war ceased, Father Yentschitch and 150 other Serbian priests were returned home.

VERSATILITY OF AMERICAN BOYS

(Correspondence Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 25.—Fresh proof of the ingenuity and resourcefulness of the American soldier in France was given the other night at La Rochelle. An army quartet had been billed to play for the soldiers at the Young Men's Christian Association building there. The quartet failed to come after the name of the quartet, John T. Anderson of Dallas, Texas, the Y. M. C. A. secretary at La Rochelle, explained the matter to the audience.

Immediately an impromptu quartet was organized. One performer played on two pieces of sand paper, another on a piece of tin, the third with an automobile horn, and the fourth tried to make music with the top of a chair.

With these instruments, the jazz band "played" the popular music of the United States to the great amusement of the audience. Heated disputes as to what they were playing occupied a large place on the evening's program. They were so popular however that their audience refused to allow them to stop, until the regular performers arrived, and even then they continued to play to the accompaniment of a drum, a mandolin, a violin and a piano.

LOSS OF COBLENZ DURING THE WAR

(By Associated Press)

COBLENZ, Jan. 23.—(By Mail).—Coblentz, a city of more than 50,000 inhabitants, lost a total of 1033 men killed in the war, according to German army estimates which reached the army of occupation headquarters recently. In the four years of war 11,723 men from Coblentz were drafted into the German army. Several thousands of these already have returned and many have taken up their trades where they left off in 1914.

Since the armistice was signed 6332 men of Coblentz have been discharged from the German army, and every day additional soldiers are returning to civil life in the district now occupied by the third American army.
